

TOWN COUNCIL CONSIDERS NEW SOURCES OF REVENUE

In an informal meeting last Friday, Town Manager Roy Braden and the members of the Town Council discussed Greenbelt's financial situation and decided to postpone the Council's next meeting until October 21, 1940.

Greenbelt's basic financial problem arises from the fact that, the legality of the personal property tax has been questioned and the Council must devise some method to obtain revenue to replace $2,500 anticipated from this source.

One suggestion which is being given serious consideration is the levying of a fee for the collection of garbage and trash. It is estimated that a fee of $3.00 for each family would furnish sufficient revenue to replace the income anticipated from the personal property tax.

Another uncertainty in Greenbelt's financial picture is the amount which may be received from the State of Maryland Road Fund. Disbursement from the state-shared gasoline tax, collected locally, are made to incorporated communities in relation to the amount collected in each community. It is hoped that Greenbelt may receive as much as $800 from this Road Fund, but it is not certain that the town is eligible for a share. The Town Council expects to have definite information about this in time for the next meeting.

High School Students Elect Officers

Mary Louise Lemire was elected president of the Senior Class at the Greenbelt High School last week. Other officers elected are: secretary, Betty Andrus; treasurer, Verne Schwab.

There has apparently been an epidemic of fire drills at school this week. The faculty, Principal Roland Sliker, and the Student Council have succeeded in gaining the students' cooperation and the result is a quiet disciplined action when the fire bell sounds. Students were first instructed in the correct procedure in the various school rooms, and leaders were appointed in each class. The fire bell was sounded while students were changing classes, whereupon they marched out in the usual manner.

During the first drill this year the building was cleared completely in 1 minute 50 seconds. During the most recent drill it took only 1 minute 20 seconds.

LEGION AUXILIARY HEARS ITS HISTORY READ

Greenbelt Unit 136 American Legion Auxiliary held its monthly meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Milton Carson, 7-A Crescent Road.

Mrs. Delpha McCarl, Historian, read a history of the Unit since its inception, which she compiled herself.

Mrs. Thomas Freeman, Membership Chairman and Mrs. Carl Day, Welfare Chairman also rendered reports which showed progress on their Committees.

Mrs. Thomas McNamara, President announced that 8 members of the Unit attended the Southern Maryland District meeting on October 3 and the luncheon that preceded it at Carvel Hall in Annapolis.

Mrs. McNamara also announced that she has been appointed member of the Executive Committee of the Department of Maryland for the coming year and will be installed in that office on Thursday in Baltimore following a luncheon at the Southern Hotel. Several of the Unit members signified their intention of attending the ceremony.

Greenbelt Unit is highly honored by having one of its members an officer in the Department of Maryland. The next meeting of the unit will be held on November 14 at the Legion Home at which time installation of officers will be held. After the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. George Bryant.

GREENBELT ATTACK ANSWERED

The public relations committee of the Greenbelt Citizens Association is meeting this week to consider an answer to the article on Greenbelt which appeared in the October issue of Nation's Business.

Chairman Lyman Woodman remarked that the committee has already answered a previous attack on Greenbelt by this magazine.

CLAIRE STILL ASSUMES NEW DUTIES

Miss Claire Still began work this week as a junior social worker for the Prince Georges County Welfare Board. She resigned from the Census Bureau in order to work in her own field, social service. A graduate in sociology from the University of Nebraska, Miss Still completed her training with a year of graduate study in the University of Nebraska School of Social Work, and now begins her practical experience with this position.

Co-op Employees May Get Special Bonus

Greenbelt Consumer Services Board at its regular meeting on October 10, voted to present to the membership for consideration a recommendation regarding annual bonus to employees. The recommendation approved by the board would pay a Christmas bonus of 2/10 of 1% of total sales providing the co-operative has earned 1% or more net earnings. The bonus is to be paid in proportion to length of service of employees and not according to salary. This year this amount will be approximately $700; the average amount each employee will receive will be $17. The resolution recommends that of this amount 50% of the total be paid in cash and 50% in shares of stock.

Fred Wilde has been appointed temporary secretary until a regular secretary is appointed.

Walter R. Volckhausen was appointed official delegate to the Eastern Cooperative League convention which will be held October 27, in New York City, the important topic to be the merging of the Eastern Cooperative League with Eastern Cooperative Wholesale. Besides Mr. Volckhausen other board members will attend.

Health Association to Elect Board Members

Election of two new board members is on the agenda of the quarterly meeting of the Greenbelt Health Association, Wednesday, October 23, at 8:30 P.M. in the social room of the Elementary School.

The election will fill the places vacated by Mrs. Jean Brown and Arthur Plackett.

Another point of interest will be a discussion on the prospective appointment of a fourth physician, an obstetrician by specialty, to augment the present staff, as soon as possible. Dr. Joseph Bilagy will talk briefly concerning the new arrangements for services at the Health Association.

The two following amendments will be proposed for the approval of the membership.

Article IV, Section 6 (b) to be changed to read as follows:-

"Under no circumstances shall any member, upon termination of his membership, be entitled to the refund of any enrollment fee or membership dues paid by him. A member in good standing who leaves Greenbelt or its vicinity, shall automatically, on taking up residence in Greenbelt or vicinity within the period of two years of lapse of active membership, be entitled to re-enroll in the Association upon the payment of the then current dues and without payment of enrollment fee."

Article V, Section 2, Sub-section 3, paragraph to be changed to read:-

"Home visits: For the first home visit in the Town of Greenbelt in each illness, fifty cents if the request for each visit is made between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 8:00 P.M., and one dollar ($1.00) if made between the hours of 8:00 P.M. and 8:00 A.M. and fifty cents (50¢) for the first home visit in each subsequent week, payable with the next installment of membership dues. Charges for home visits to members living outside the limits of the Town of Greenbelt shall be subject to such limitations as the Board deems to be in the best interests of the Association."

The meeting is open to non-members as well as members. Cider and doughnuts will be served.

IMPORTANT BOOK TO BE REVIEWED

"I Married Adventure" by Osa Johnson will be reviewed by Autumn Perkins at the next meeting of the Book Club, Tuesday, October 22, in room 200 of the Elementary School.

The last meeting of the group at which "I Go Horizontal" was reviewed by Reba Harris was attended by 17 persons, the largest number ever to attend. Everyone is invited to this season's reviews and is welcome to make suggestions concerning the programs.

BAND BOARD PAYS $75 ON LOAN

Last Friday night the parents' board of the Greenbelt Community Band voted to pay the town council $75 as part payment on the repair bill for the instruments loaned by Farm Security Administration.

Mrs. Mary Jane Kinzer and Mrs. Winfield McCamy turned over the funds to the newly elected officers who assumed office that night.

The board also voted to make regular monthly payments until the debt is repaid.

GREASE STARTS SMALL FIRE ON RIDGE ROAD

The Greenbelt Fire Department was called into action Sunday night at 6 P.M. to extinguish a small fire in the home of Mr. A. Fick of 21-B Ridge Road.

In his wife's absence, Mr. Fick was preparing dinner, when hot grease broke into flame, burning the window shade and curtain.

GREENBELTERS EXEMPTED FROM HATCH ACT

The following is a letter received by the Town Manager from the United States Civil Service Commission in answer to a request for exemption of Greenbelt from the provisions of the Hatch Act Prohibiting Government employees from participating in local politics.

Mr. Roy S. Braden, Town Manager
Town of Greenbelt
Maryland

Dear Mr. Braden:

Reference is made to your letter of September 20, 1940, concerning the status of Government employees in your community under the terms of the laws respecting political activity. The Commission has concluded that the privileges to participate in local political activity formerly granted to Federal employees residing in Greenbelt may be restored.

The same privilege is restored on the same basis and subject to the same conditions as existed prior to enactment of the law of August 2, 1939. These conditions require that the activities engaged in be of local character and in the domestic interest of the Federal employees residing in the municipality. Offices held must be purely local offices, the duties of which do not involve State or National partisan politics and nominations and elections for such offices must be conducted in such a way that Federal employees can participate in the resulting political management and campaigns in a non-partisan manner.

By direction of the Commission:

Very respectfully
(Signed) W. C. Hull
Executive Ass't.

As indicated by the above letter, any resident of Greenbelt may now be a candidate for Manager or member of Town Council, providing that he does not affiliate himself with any political party during election.

Fulmer Thanks Registration Helpers

All Greenbelt men who had passed their 21st birthday and not yet reached their 36th yesterday flocked to the vacant store in the Center and registered for Selective Compulsory Military Training. Registration began at seven in the morning and ended at nine at night. Approximately 50 people including Greenbelt Office workers, Grammar school teachers, and other Greenbelt citizens volunteered their services and worked in shifts all through the day recording the answers to the registration questions. The Greenbelt Office workers and the teachers were given time off in order that they might help with the task.

"I'd like to express my appreciation," O. Kline Fulmer who was in charge of the Registration told the Cooperator, "for the help of all those who assisted in the registration. They volunteered their services, worked hard, and did an excellent job."

Chairman of V F W Elected

Marvin D. Jones of Greenbelt has been named general chairman of the Thomas N. Fenwick Post 749, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The committee named Mayor Wm. C. Wedding to arrange the program for the dedication of the Cleveland Avenue Circle in that town, to the Fenwick Post. The committee named by the Mayor consists of the entire post and several citizens from the board with Councilman J. P. Waters as chairman.

The circle, long an eyesore, has been greatly improved by the Post in the past few months and will be formally dedicated as a memorial circle on November 11. Among the improvements made was the erection of a flag pole. The Ladies Auxiliary, with Mrs. George S. Phillips as president, will present the Post with a flag to be used thereon. An artillery field piece is being secured from the Aberdeen proving ground and is hoped to be completed by that date. Several speakers of national prominence have been invited to attend and the feature will be a parade including several military as well as civic organizations. The Boy Scouts will also participate in the parade.

Sour Grapes

Merle Thorpe, National Chamber of Commerce spokesman, doesn't like us. We have known this for a long time, but just to dispel any misunderstanding "Nation's Business" (Thorpe is editor) published another blast at Greenbelt in its October issue.

This article was written by Ed Thornehill. A few of the residents here still recall Thornehill as the man who ran for Town Council and was badly beaten, as the man who aspired to manage the cooperative stores—in vain, as the man who "resigned" his job with Farm Security Administration. His article is the typical sour grapes one would expect.

Differing from previous slaps at Greenbelt only in its length, this article is a masterpiece of half truths and distorted facts. Two items selected at random should be sufficient to prejudice whatever case the house organ of the National Chamber of Commerce seeks to prove.

As before in this magazine the writer lumps together the cost of all government land in the Greenbelt area, the cost of all streets, roads and walks, business buildings, schools, parks, playgrounds, the water, sewage, and electric systems. Then he divides this by 860 families and achieves the fantastic figure of $16,000 as the building cost of each dwelling unit. This figure he compares with housing costs in other residential areas to show how expensive Greenbelt is and how wasteful the Government is. But his comparative cost figure for these houses outside of Greenbelt covers only the actual house construction, and none of the items he assesses to us. It's an old trick, and one that fails to perturb us any more.

Another example of this article's style is the statement, "Uncle Sam provided the $3000 worth of instruments for Greenbelt's band." As we parents who are paying each month for these instruments already know, they were used and damaged instruments which had been completely discarded by the Army and the Navy bands and were lying in a Philadelphia warehouse. At a total expense of $9.92 to the Government they were hauled down here. The total cost of putting them into condition for use is being paid by the parents of the youngsters using them.

There would be little point in taking the time for answering the remainder of the article. Greenbelters do not read "Nation's Business", and the businessmen who subscribe to the National Chamber of Commerce do not read the Cooperator. Moreover, readers of "Nation's Business" have already made up their minds to hate Greenbelt. Ed Thornehill's article has done no damage there. And Greenbelters already distrust the National Chamber of Commerce—so this editorial can have little effect here.

It is well to know, though, who is attacking us and why, and to understand the weapons used. We rejoice that Merle Thorpe's cohorts, though powerful, are so few. He and he alone has instigated every misrepresenting article about our town that we have read. It is a phobia with him, and he is incurable.

In only one measure do we agree—that Greenbelters are a favored few. Thorpe has quoted one of our own editorials to say this. But we come to different conclusions. Thorpe, feeling that all government subsidy should be reserved for the owners of industry, says that there should be no Greenbelts. We who feel that the men and women and children of America constitute this nation's greatest treasure say there must be a thousand Greenbelts—and we shall never rest so long as America has inadequate housing for a third of its people.

Welcome to Greenbelt

The Cooperator welcomes these new residents: W. R. Pilkerton, 30-F Crescent Road, George M. Derry, 15-F Parkway Road, Morris Tepper, 44-E Crescent Road.

The following Greenbelters have recently moved, and their new addresses appear below:

Thomas Evans, 4-D Ridge Road, Edwin M. Shaad, 12C Parkway Road, William Siegal, 23-D Ridge Road

Freedom of the Press

When the magazine "Friday" printed an expose of Ford's man, W. J. Cameron, in its September 27 issue, it was news. It was not news to us that Cameron is notoriously anti-Semitic and Fascist minded, but it was news for any paper that someone was willing to present true or even faked evidence showing definite tie-ups between Cameron, Ford and certain Nazi and Fascist organizations in this country.

It was news. But only one daily paper in the whole country (to our knowledge) printed a word about the charges. That paper was New York's PM. PM runs without paid advertising, believing that advertisers tend to control the editorial policy of a newspaper. Ford advertisements run into millions of dollars per year and form a substantial revenue for many papers. It was news—but only one newspaper printed it.

It's a Dandy War

Your food bill went up 5 per cent in the last year, according to price indexes released last month by the Department of Agriculture.

A 400 per cent rise in the profits of this country's 80 leading steel companies for this year was recently reported in the New York Times.

In the first six months of 1940 a selected group of 400 of the largest corporations in the United States showed an increase in profits of 59 per cent, according to a report from the National City Bank.

The New York Sun reports that the 16 leading oil companies show 230 per cent larger profits for the last six months over the previous six months.

The new defense tax bill passed by a Republican and Tory Democratic Congress is a farce, acknowledged even by its supporters to be "cumbersome and unsatisfactory."

We hope you remembered to register for the draft Wednesday.

VOLUME 4 NUMBER 37

Our Citizens Association meets
Once a month or so
To settle town-wide problems
And let our leader know
Our will on town-wide matters:
Our hopes and fears to show.

To speak with such authority and force
For citizenry all
Would you not think a quorum,
At least a number small
Of those some fifteen hundreds,
Would have to grace the hall?

Such is the case in other voting towns
And once was so here, too;
But now we have conceded —
Full soon, without ado —
Another foothold to dictators;
With quorums we are through.
Howard C. Custer

THE POET'S CORNER

Concerning the matter of a quorum,
I gather that you, Mr. Custer, are for 'em,
And so am I — when we can get
At every meeting the number set.
It's everyone's privilege to stay away,
But those who attend should have their say
And not be handicapped by those who Can't spare one night out of each month, too.
If you opposed the quorum's being forsaken,
Where were you when the vote was taken?
You could have spoken, but you weren't there;
Is then your criticism fair?
But, let's not quarrel, even in rhyme;
We can make changes at any time.
For I have no fear of a dictator
As long as you write for the Cooperator.
And, as for democracy, none can end it
With you, Mr. Custer, here to defend it!

— Chaz.

FAIR PICTURES SHOWN TO-NIGHT

The fifth issue of the Greenbelt news reel produced by Aaron Chinitz and Co. will be presented twice to-night at 7 and 9 P.M. This is the first film that has been produced in sixteen mm. film in color. It deals with the recent Greenbelt Fair. Those who have seen a pre-view of the production say the aerial shots of Greenbelt are particularly fine.

TO START THE NURSERY SCHOOL

To the Editor:

More than one person intimately associated with the whole nursery school project feels that certain points expressed in the recent editorial on the subject demand clarification.

The editorial assumes that unless the school can approximate the ideal, the enterprise should be abandoned. If the Council finds it impossible to participate financially, so the opportunity for such training may be available to all four-year-olds for, say, two dollars, shall we deny it to a few children whose nursery school experience would undoubtedly prove a benefit to their playmates—indirectly to all our children?

Naturally we should like to have money and facilities for both three—and four year olds—all 210 of them. But, even if funds were available for teachers and equipment for so great a number, space is lacking. We who have been studying the possibilities and difficulties relative to establishing a nursery school in Greenbelt almost since the beginning of the town itself, hope eventually to see a properly equipped, adequately staffed pre-school building where the opportunities for child education would be available to everyone free. But we feel that it is decidedly better and wiser to begin in a small way with the school supported by the few families able to pay, than not to begin.

Above all, though it may of necessity be a tuition supported project to start with, let us remember that it is as a town institution that we want the nursery school to flourish.

The Nursery School Committee

OUR ERROR, MR. ATKINS

To the Editor:

In your issue of Oct. 10th, you carried as front page news, the story of Dr. Joe Still's admission to the School of Public Health, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and the relevant circumstances.

May we point out that this story, as submitted to you by Director Ed Weitsman, contained further news to the effect that this Board had approved Dr. Still's plans upon receiving a commitment from all the Association Doctors that they would at once proceed to look for a fourth associate doctor with additional obstetrical experience to join the Health Association's staff.

This, we think you will agree, is a vital point, and one of more than academic interest to all Greenbelt people, and we are at a loss to account for the editing of Mr. Weitsman's story which excluded it.

Anything you can do to secure a proper representation of this item, is we feel, in our common interest.

—The Board of Directors
by Les Atkins, Secretary.

The Greenbelt Bridge Club played a round of individual duplicate last Friday evening, at the end of which Dr. Treiman emerged the winner with 15 match points and Mrs. Bea Helfand was second with 13 match points.

There are several young parents in Greenbelt during the last few years who have felt the sting of sorrow, trouble and financial strain, for the first time. It is to them I wish to dedicate this "Lyric of life" by Douglas Mallock, entitled, "I Hadn't Thought."

I hadn't thought of trouble, not as anything of mine;
It came to lots of other folks, but I was feeling fine.
I hadn't thought of sorrow, thought of sorrow much at all;
Although I'd heard a lot of grief, it never came to call.
I hadn't thought of hunger, not with plenty on the shelf,
I hadn't thought of anything, I guess, except myself.

And then I had my trouble, bringing trouble in its train;
It made me know what trouble is, and made it mighty plain.
And then I had a sorrow, had a sorrow of my own,
And found that sorrow seldom comes and seldom comes alone.
And then I had a hunger, for I had harder day,
Found fortune was another thing that trouble takes away.

I'm now a little poorer, so I give a little more,
And I forget about my care to come to trouble's door.
I'm now a little sadder, with the sorrow I have met,
And I have learned to comfort grief, my sorrow to forget.
I'm now a little kinder, live a little as I thought;
With all the rest to think about, I guess I Hadn't Thought.

HEALTH & TEETH, Part 7

It is not possible to repeat too often the fact that good temporary teeth mean good permanent teeth and vice versa. Until the child is able to learn to brush his own teeth the mother must care for them. Teeth should be wiped clean with soft clean gauze at first, later with a soft brush. If the parent establishes regular oral hygiene habits, it is much easier to teach the child to carry on the process routinely and naturally. Pleasant tooth pastes and the constant sensation of a clean mouth will do much toward making children fastidious about cleaning their own teeth regularly. Doctors and dentists can give advice. The parents must translate that advice into the daily habits of the child. The child who learns to enjoy a clean mouth is not likely to need false teeth at thirty-five.

If oral hygiene has been practiced before the important six-year molars erupt, there is little likelihood that the molars will decay early. The continuation of daily habits of cleaning the teeth will assist the first molars in the work they must do before the other permanent teeth arrive.

While these first permanent molars are being put to work, interesting changes are taking place in the jaws. The roots of the first teeth are being resorbed. The other permanent teeth are completing their calcification and moving into place and commencing to push out the first teeth.

The homely technique of tying a string around a loose first tooth and the other end about a door knob and extracting the tooth by slamming the door should be relegated to museums for medical practices of the Middle Ages. Only a dentist aided by x-ray can be sure that the tooth is loose because the permanent tooth is ready to occupy the same space. Various other factors, such as a blow, may have loosened the tooth prematurely.

Why don't you Learn for Yourself?

Throughout the ages, pottery has been held in highest esteem for gifts. In olden days it became a favorite medium for conveying compliments and good wishes and for bestowing special marks of honor. It was conferred upon the officer by his sovereign and passed between friends at customary times of re-joining.

Today there is nothing more appropriate for gifts than beautiful ROSEVILLE pottery. There are so many occasions when one wishes to express sentiment or appreciation adequately. Whatever it may be—a wedding, an anniversary, a birthday, a graduation or Christmas—a ROSEVILLE selection solves the problem of what to give.

MRS. GREENBELT

Good Evening, Mrs. Greenbelt

I once read an article about making the most of what you have. I've forgotten who wrote it, where I read it, and - honestly - most of the article itself. I just remember one sentence which said "It's not what people have that makes them happy, it's how they use what they have that counts."

You know how true that is, don't you? You've seen tragedy and fear and disillusionment stalk the very rich. You've even known people who died far too early because they consumed too much rich food and because their rounds of parties left them no time for sleep. You must have suspected often that people who drifted from Palm Beach to Newport, from Scotland to the Riviera, were desperately bored with life. Haven't you?

Here in Greenbelt, we're about in the middle. None of us has a great deal of money, but we all have the clean air, the autumn trees, the lake. How are we using what we have? How many of you didn't go in swimming in the pool this summer? How many of you don't plan to go down to the lake when it freezes to skate or to watch? How many of you have ever taken bread crumbs to the ducks? How many of you have forgotten to take the high school path and see those trees golden as Spanish doubloons?

It's too bad to muffle a chance at a fuller life. If you haven't been using what you have to its ultimate extent, jump out of your rut. Take time out to do those things that you've always meant to do. You'll be surprised at the difference it will make.

RECIPES

This week it's "Oysters", that succulent bivalve so abundant in our Maryland waters. They are one of the most easily digested of the protein foods, rich in phosphorus so necessary for the growth of sound bones and teeth. Here is my favorite recipe for fried oysters, also another delicious oyster dish.

FRIED OYSTERS

Take oysters directly from their own liquor, roll them lightly in cornmeal, and drop into hot fat for just long enough to turn a golden brown. Remove and serve immediately with catsup or chili sauce.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS

Place a layer of oysters in buttered baking dish. Alternate shredded carrots and finely chopped celery with oysters, seasoning each layer with a little salt and pepper, beat yolks of three or four eggs and pour over top. Bake in moderate oven for 45 minutes. For a less expensive dish substitute a medium cream sauce for the eggs.

Use the heavy wax paper drinking cups for your bacon and other fat drippings; it will always be fresh, as the cups do not permit accumulating enough fat in one container to become rancid.

A steel-bristled brush will prove excellent for brushing crumbs from a waffle iron and aids in keeping the iron in good condition. Never wash a waffle iron.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NEWS

OUR NATURE STUDY HIKES

On October 7, Mrs. Gerrits' class went on one of the many nature study hikes. The main purpose for this hike was to find a possible site for an outdoor classroom. We are studying conservation; that is how we became interested in outdoor work. First we were led by Margaret Brown to a sunny spot near the athletic field. Then by Mrs. Gerrits, our teacher, we were led to a place in the shade by the center playground. One of the other interesting hikes we took we were led by Billy Belton and Kaywin Knox to a beautiful site by the upper part of Ridge Road. We have not yet selected an outdoor classroom, but hope to soon.

One of the basic psychological needs of children is that for security. Dissension in the home is oppression for the child, against which he reacts as definitely as if a superior physical force were arrayed against him.

FOOD IS STRENGTH

America can dream that want will disappear. America can hope and live in hope that none will lack the food he needs. We can dream and hope, but we must also work.

We can work.

With our lands, and hands, and machines we have built greatly. We have raised from the earth buildings that soar a thousand feet. We have — Consumers Guide. dammed gigantic rivers and made their waters do the work of millions. We have created cities and highways, factories and machines that are the marvel of the world.

We have worked at many things. We must do more. We must work at this job of getting everybody a chance to earn a livelihood that includes the food he needs. We must make sure that our farmers, the most abundant producers on earth, will have the help they need to keep on raising food and saving soil. We must make our dollars buy the best and safest meals for all.

This means work.

We can start in our own homes. Make food do all the job it can do. Make certain each member of the family gets the food that keeps him strong and well.

We can look at our own communities, discover where meals are poor, why they are poor, how they must be enriched.

We can banish low incomes and waste, and abolish monopoly that chokes the flow of foods from farms to homes.

We have the talent to do all this vigorously, persistently, and in the ways of a democratic people.

We can make America strong by making Americans stronger.

Behind the plow that turns the earth that yields the food --

Behind the machines that make the plows that turn the earth --

Behind the train and plane and truck that bear the food --

Behind the store that stocks and sells the food --

Within the homes, the grand and mean, where food is eaten --

we stand, 130 million people

We must be strong!

CORRECTION

Mrs. Gertrude Brennon has not been, as announced in last week's Cooperator, recuperating in the Greenbelt Hospital. Mrs. Brennon's appendectomy was performed in a Washington Hospital.

LAURELS TO THE LADIES

Yes, laurels to the ladies of Greenbelt, for in spite of being busy housekeepers and civic workers they find time to engage in all the sports that their husbands enjoy. (perhaps we should except- football). The bowling league has increased to 10 teams, almost doubling since last year, and dozens of damsels are eagerly awaiting the first gym class on Wednesday, October 16. Let's see you all there, full of pep and raring to go. Tell hubby kindly but firmly that Wednesday is your night out.

HOW WELL DO YOU KNOW YOUR WOOLENS?

Consumers' Counsel Division of the Department of Agriculture, says this wise - "If you are buying a coat or a blanket or a rug you probably will have your choice of a woolen or a worsted fabric. I'd go a step farther and say - "If you are buying a coat or a blanket or a rug, you probably have a drag with the old man." When I think of the places on my living room rug which we - from Dad to the two-year-old have learned to carefully skirt in order to avoid multiple fractures; when I think of chillier-than-usual nights when we've had to throw Mother's bathrobe over the foot of the baby's crib to help out on the covering and when - oh, when - I think of the desperate campaign which several of us neighbors are waging for a new coat; I have to repeat. "If you are buying a coat or a blanket or a rug, you probably have a drag with the old man."

But, just in case you do, Consumers' Counsel has prepared a statement on how to know the difference between worsteds and woolens, and when a fabric will hold its shape.

"Woolen fabrics have a soft fuzzy appearance, and their nap usually covers up the weave. It usually is less firmly woven than a worsted, but is springy and elastic. Cheap woolens usually have weak foundations because so much of the fiber is pulled to the surface to form the nap. Nap that rubs off or rolls up when the fabric is rubbed briskly between the hands indicates a poorly made material that will soon become threadbare and look shabby.

"Worsteds have a distinctly visible weave. They feel wiry and somewhat harsh, and usually are firmly woven and free from nap. The yarns are smooth and tightly twisted, and are made from the better quality wool yarns. They tailor well and hold their press, but develop a shine.

"You can tell good quality in both woolens and worsteds by crumpling the fabric in your hand. Good quality fabrics have a springy alive feeling and don't crease easily."

Take a sample home, if possible and use your kitchen as a laboratory if you want to find out whether an all-wool fabric is really all wool.

"First, try the burning test. Touch a match to a small piece of the fabric. If it is all-wool, it will smoulder and give off a disagreeable, acrid odor, like that of burning hair. The crisp ash will ball up along the edge into an irregularly shaped mass. If there are other fibers present, the fabric will not burn in this manner.

"Another test will tell you more accurately if there is cotton, linen, or rayon present in the fabric. Boil a sample of the fabric for 15 minutes in a solution of 1 tablespoon of lye to 1 pint of water. The wool will dissolve in this solution, leaving whatever cotton, rayon, or linen that may be present. This test won't work for silk and wool mixtures, since the silk will dissolve also.

"Consumers must rely on the label to tell whether such fibers as mohair, camel's hair, or alpaca are mixed with the wool.

"Best labels tell the exact percentage of wool and other fibers present in the fabric."

AHAESY CANDID ATHLETIC COMMENTS

Thanks, Mr. Custer for your answer to my query how one makes "Hall of Outstanding Greenbelt Citizens". I realize, of course, that you and I have entirely different viewpoints as to what constitutes contributions to civic welfare and therefore we will never reach any satisfactory conclusion. Since this, my last appearance at bat in this particular series with you, I would like to make the following observations: I fail to see how you as an individual can judge as to what constitutes civic responsibilities when you only attend civic and cooperative meetings, and passes up all athletic club events. It might surprise you to know that at various times this past summer as many as one thousand citizens attended softball and hardball games at our recreational center. Any group who can get that many citizens out into the sunshine and entertain them certainly to my way of thinking, are contributing materially to the health and happiness of the community just as much as those who attend civic and cooperative meetings. Perhaps some of these organizations you are so interested in (and don't get me wrong, I think they are all fine outfits) could use some of the so called college high pressure "spirit" in getting the citizens of Greenbelt interested in their civic responsibilities.

The softball players of E and A Block are wondering when C Block is going to throw that party promised them if they defeated J Block. Bill Moore, popular A Block softball player and Shamrock baseball star, has one of the best scrap books these old eyes have ever seen. Get Bill to show it to you sometime, it's really the tops. Leo Mullen is quite a master of ceremonies. He really strutted his stuff at the Shamrock's get-together last week. Never a dull moment when he's a round. He either wants to sing or give an imitation of Gypsy Rose Lee. The Shamrock Baseball team presented Vince Holochwest with a pipe in appreciation of his directing the team through a successful season.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS NEWS

Intramural sports at the High School have been underway for several weeks now and the good weather has made possible a heavy schedule. The boys are organized into two touch football leagues, the Junior-Senior class league using college names, and the Freshman-Sophomore class league using animal names. The girls have one softball league which uses the names of birds.

Six football games have been played so far. The boys play 7 minute quarters with one minute rest between quarters and three minutes rest between halves. Smooth running of the program has been aided by the referees Julius Andrus, Bob Porter, Bob Egli, and Leroy Clark.

Thursday, October 10, the games provided many a thrill for spectators. With a fast aerial attack in the last minute of the game, followed by a quick end run, John Bozek crossed the goal line to win for Maryland in a game against Harvard. The Panthers and the Lions battled to a scoreless tie and the Bluebirds emerged victorious over the Eagles.

On Friday, October 11, the Hawks trounced the Cardinals, Harvard passed and ran to victory over Rutgers, and the Wildcats, living up to their name, clawed the Tigers in their game.

Outstanding among the touch football players this week were, J. Brewer, D. Jones, R. Palmer, D. Brewer, R. Rhine, L. Buck, W. Sommers, B. Dodson, E. Palmer, B. Jones, and D. Taylor.

CARROLL HITS CAR AND GETS WARRENT

Martin A. Miller has issued a warrant for the arrest of Peter J. Carroll on a charge of reckless driving.

According to Mr. Miller, he parked his car in a parking area near Eastway and Crescent Road and went into a friend's house. A few minutes later he heard a crash and rushed out to see a car driven by Mr. Carroll leaving the scene of the accident. He stopped the latter car, and was informed that Mr. Carroll was trying to get his wife and child to the movies before the 7:00 P.M. show started. Mr. Carroll returned later and disclaimed liability on the ground that he did not see Mr. Miller's car.

Mr. Carroll stated that he did not see Mr. Miller's car because of the manner in which it was parked and because it had no lights.

Mr. Carroll is scheduled to appear before the Trial Magistrate in Hyattsville on October 21 to answer the charges.

The Community Men's Class will elect officers for the ensuing year at its regular monthly business meeting tomorrow night, October 18th, at 8:00 P.M. in the Social Room. All members and other men interested in the class are urged to attend and enjoy an evening of good-fellowship. The Social Committee promises that good "eats" and entertainment will immediately follow the business session.

WITH THE REPS

By John Murray

In our recent review of the Reps we find that one member of the team was slighted. We spoke of the antics and heroics of the various players, but failed entirely to mention Bob Temple. Our apologies. He played good ball in his infrequent appearances and filled an outfield berth more than adequately when called upon. His late season injury has responded to treatment and he is now readying himself for an assault on the bowling world. He is the town's best and performs in at least two topflight leagues.

* * * * *

Ben Goldfaden has set the ball rolling for the High School Basketball team and its junior division, the Plebes. Last Monday he issued the call, and 20 members turned out for the first meeting of the season. Of last year's team only four members are left, Bob Porter, Leroy Clark, Bob Egli, and Lynn Buck, but material moving up from last year's junior teams promises to fill out a successful combination. The Town Health Department was called upon to examine the lads to insure against later season complications. Weekly practice hours have been set for 4:15 P.M. on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

Schools in the Metropolitan Area as well as the local vicinity have been contacted and among those scheduled for a Greenbelt appearance are Gonzaga, St. Johns, Hyattsville, Roosevelt, Mt. Rainier, Central, Calvin Coolidge, and Anacostia. Most of the games will be offered on the local scene on Monday evenings at 8:15 P.M. An admission charge will prevail to defray team expenses, travelling, uniforms, and equipment. The scale of prices will be 5 cents for youngsters, 10 cents for elementary school children, and 15 cents for adults.

GUN CLUB BEGINS FALL MATCH PROGRAM

The Greenbelt Gun Club has announced that it will have a rifle team representing our community in a series of indoor matches in and around Washington during the next few months.

A number of matches will probably be held at the National Rifle Association gallery in Washington during the winter. The club hopes to have two visiting teams at the Greenbelt outdoor range within the next four weeks.

The Greenbelt Gun Club, in other words, is now ready to meet all comers.

Boggs and Woodman, members of both the Greenbelt Gun Club and the U. S. Aggies (Beltsville Research Center Club) participated in the National Capitol Registered Rifle Tournament as Aggie team members at Camp Simms on October 5. The Aggies' team scores recently released are as follows: (possible - 400)

L. L. Woodman — 393	E. Boggs — 390

Spilling the pins for a 564 game and a 1601 set, both new highs, the KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS set the pace last Tuesday night, October 8, 1940, after the sixteen teams of the Greenbelt Bowling League assembled at the College Park alleys for their fourth round of bowling. The KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS victims in all three games were the BARNACLES, and moved them up to fifth place in the standing. They were thirteenth the week before. Jones, of K. of C., really burned up the alleys with his 387 high set, second high game of 145, and now high average of 115-6.

The league leading RED SKINS made it 12 straight when they shut out the CARDINALS, and now hold a four game edge, while the UNIVERSITY MOTORS boys scored the third and final clean sweep of the evening over CONSUMERS CO-OP #2 with a fine 1562 set.

While the second division teams were fighting to better their positions, the STARLIGHT BARONS advanced to the runner-up spot when they disposed of the BUCKEROOS 2 games to 1 and the BADGERS dropped to third place as a result of their 2 to 1 defeat at the hands of the STARLIGHT EARLS. The COLTS showed great improvement by taking the odd game from the DODGERS while the ORIOLES won two out of three from the EAGLES and the CONSUMERS CO-OP #1 shot a 1518 set for a 2 to 1 victory over the COMMUNITY MEN'S CLASS.

MARVIN'S PRIZE, $2.00 in merchandise free, and the weekly league cash prize was won by Jones, of the KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS for his high game of 145.

Food Store Acquires New Clerk

James Giblein, whose regular job is in the produce department of the Green Hills food store, started work in the food store here last Monday as part of a twelve-week course in food store management, sponsored by the Council for Cooperative Business Training, New York City. Giblein will work here for three weeks, receiving special instruction from Manager Russell T. Kellams and from General Manager George Hodsdon, covering all phases of store operation.

Jackson Sherman, who has been working here for over a year, is a student in the same course, and is spending his first work period at the Morningside Consumer Cooperative, New York City. In all, there are nineteen students enrolled. Three are from Nova Scotia, and one is from Ontario. More than half of them have had experience in cooperatives before, and two are store managers.

Returning from their first work period, students will spend three more weeks studying in New York instructed by the staffs of Eastern Cooperative Wholesale, Rochdale Institute, and Consumer Distribution Corporation. For their second work period, they will not go back to the stores first assigned, but will choose different stores, to get different types of experience. A final week of study will close the course on December 21.

A YEAR AGO

(From the Cooperator of October 19, 1939)

Greenbelt's peeling street signs were painted and the superfluous ones removed. Thus saving the kids the trouble on Halloween.

The Softball championship went to J Block when they defeated B Block for the second successive year. Howard Custer inaugurated his square dancing group. Twelve couples bumped heads and had fun—and bumped heads.

Edward Holmes, manager of the Health Association, left Greenbelt to organize a Lobsterman's Co-op in Maine. Success depended on cooperation of the lobsters.

The "Witch Hunting" of the Dies Committee worried the Editorial staff. It still does.

The average annual income per Greenbelt family was $1600. Some could have used more.
